PETE BITZER ACTS MEANLY.

Democrats are still discussing the local convention of Wednesday evening and the consensus of opinion is that the attempt to settle contests for nominations in a convention was a failure, and if nothing else there is a warning that the party leaders must remember that the primary law was inscribed on our statute books for the benefit of the people and when the people have no voice in making nominations for political offices they will not be concerned mightily over the prospects of that party. Col. P. H. Cullahan, ex-Attorney General M. M. Logan and Attorney L. J. Mackay made able arguments for the referring of contested nominations to the people while Lewis Humphreys, Tony Carroll and Macie Wasson were champions of convention methods, they claiming that a candidate not receiving a nomination in a convention was welcome to try in a primary. But all three intimated that a man or woman taking this step would be classed as a "surehead."

The Kentucky Irish American contended and still contends that a convention is not a fair way of making nominations where there is a contest. In the first place delegates are not chosen by the voters, but the old, old stereotyped plan is followed in each district. A "yes" man delegate arises to his feet and reads hurriedly over his list prepared by the headquarters secretary, the motion to approve is carried quickly and a packed delegation is the result, a few independent delegates being thrown in for ballast. No stretch of the imagination can picture delegates thus selected as "the people's representatives," but the convention advocates never worry as to how they will vote. The Greene-Gregory race illustrates convention methods exactly. L. D. Greene was a candidate for County Judge for several weeks and has one of the largest followings in the city. James P. Gregory was chosen to oppose him at the eleventh hour, being supported by Messrs. Humphreys, Carroll and the convention advocates. Gregory was given the nomination the majority of the delegates getting the word in some mysterious manner to oppose Greene. This is a typical convention illustration and a splendid argument for primary nominations where there are contests.

The ticket as a whole is a good one and deserves the support of the voters, the few mistaken nominations being made where there were contests. Mr. Emmart, the candidate for Mayor, sounded the keynote in his acceptance address when he called attention to the negro vote of last year. In comparing the figures with the United States census it is safe to say that the Searcy-Chilton machine voted over 8,000 negro boys and girls under twenty-one years of age for the Republican tickets. There is the keynote as Mr. Emmart states. Will the white people of Louisville allow 23,000 negro votes, 8,000 of whom are under age and probably illiterate, to elect our city officials and determine in what manner our city and county government shall be conducted? The conduct of the negroes show that they have been petted and spoiled by the Republican machine to such an extent that they are becoming more and more arrogant daily.

Before the Republican Board of Park Commissioners the other day a committee of negroes proposed and in the course of the meeting it developed that the Cherokee Park residents are beginning to resent the influx of the negroes in that park. For the past few years the residents of the West End and Shawnee Park have seen the march on Shawneeland by the negro Republican army and many a white Republican who on West Chestnut street has been forced to sacrifice his little homestead, while others near Shawnee Park have seen their property depreciate because of the encroachment of the negroes who goad over driving the white people away from their homes. During this time the residents of the Cherokee Park section never sympathized or protested against the negro drive. But the shoe is on the other foot just now and the Cherokee Park residents are squawking and squawking loudly to the Republican Board of Park Commissioners. At the meeting the Commissioner McDowell said he understood the negroes were overrunning Cherokee Park on Sunday. That the negroes will cut an important figure in the coming Republican convention the Fifteenth legislative district convention will be called to meet at the soft drink stand of William Wells, a negro of 740 Twelfth street. G. G. Young, a negro, will preside, and nothing but negroes will be named to meet in session with the white Republican men and women to plan for another four years of misgov-ernment.

The editor of the Louisville Herald sums up the troubles of the Republican "reform" administration by pleading with the public to drop the Blair-John Doe pardon case, the Herald grudgingly acknowledging that old "Howdy Ed" made a mistake, but says "for goodness sake" quit discussing the mistake as it gets on the "reform" administration nerves. The John Doe case as it should be termed just about put the finishing touch to "Howdy Ed" in the estimation of the people of Kentucky and there's many a voter waiting to get another whack at "Howdy Ed" and right the wrongs of 1919. There's many a good Democrat and independent voter who was beguiled into voting for Morrow for Governor, but it is bragging about it just now, and it is safe to say that "Howdy Ed's" ballyhoo speech will be popular in future Kentucky campaigns. Morrow says that Capt. Jim Hendricks asked for the pardon of the notorious criminal, which is pretty weak when one considers that Hendricks is a Democrat, and not naturally supposed to have any strength with a Republican Governor. There's a tip for many seeking pardons. See Jim Hendricks, as "Howdy Ed" seems to pay special attention to the Hendricks requests.

"Governor" Burlingame and his associates, Messrs. Johnson and Selligman, of the Board of Safety, are running a close second to their Keystone cops, for the comedy, judging from their effort to alibi the inefficiency of the police department. The board issued a statement explaining that the Keystone police didn't catch any of the twenty-three murderers around here the past three years because—well, as the board says, just because. Incidentally "Governor" Burlingame forgot a few of the mystery murders in his long explanation. No mention was made of the murder of the negro gambler in the saloon of Husley Pope, the colored Republican leader; no mention of the murder of the negro woman at Ninth and Chestnut; not a word about the murder in the negro barber shop on Twelfth street, where it was said a negro named Wright conducted a gambling game. In neither of these three cases were there arrests, yet the Keystone board didn't class them with the other list of mystery murders. The board closed its alibi with a sure enough funny one. It said that the police were alright because Prof. Ragsdale, their A. B. C. teacher, said they were, and further he said their morale was good. (That morale is Greek to the Keystoneans.) The board might have added that the professor draws a salary from the School Board. In addition to holding down $100 a month to teach psychology (over their head) to the comedy cops, and also preserve their morale.

Old Pete Bitzer, who holds the world's record for being arrested for violation of the liquor laws, had a little fun with the Keystone cops this week. Pete's drivers had two suspicious trucks which were hauled by the Keystone cops, Capt. Curran summoned to the scene, and Pete was accused of having whisky for bootlegging. Pete denied the accusation and told the "yap" police that the trucks were loaded down with red pop that he was hauling to a Sunday school picnic. Furthermore if they didn't believe that was the truth he would have the trucks haul away their load and then come back for arrest or punishment. The poor old trusting Keystoneans said they'd be goaded if that wasn't fair enough and away went Pete's two suspicious cargoes. Later in the day the drivers and trucks returned, and then Pete told them that he had been fooling them the first time and that there wasn't even red pop in the cases. To make it stronger he crashed his heart and said he hoped he'd die if he wasn't telling the truth. Lots of the citizens are awakening and saying that Pete was up to his old tricks again and should be ashamed of kidding our poor old Keystoneans, who are the victims of burglars and automobile thieves daily and weekly.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Mackin Council held a rousing meeting Monday night, at which delegates were elected to the Grand Council convention to be held at Terre Haute, Ind., August 15 to 17. Those selected to represent the council were President August Hoerter, T. Leo Connelly, Morris Butler and Robert Butler. Rev. Father William Burke, O. P., recently ordained and the first member of Mackin Council to be elevated to the priesthood, was present and addressed the members on the laymen's duty to the church. All were delighted with his words of advice and encouragement and in a most happy manner attended their annual regulation through the President. Father Burke will be always a welcome visitor to Mackin, who took upon him as their own.

ORPHAN PICNIC

But another week remains before the great Fourth of July celebration and picnic for the benefit of the Catholic orphans of Louisville, and the enthusiasm and gratifying results made last Monday night would indicate most satisfactory results. For the past six weeks committees have been busy and every arrangement for the day has been perfected. This will be a real picnic, with all the good old and new features for both the older and young people. The Boston Committees reported $1,463.18 as the result of its work, with two Sundays remaining for extensive preparations for their coming annual picnic, which will take place at Grote's Park, formerly St. Peter's Grove, on Monday, July 11, both afternoon and evening. A delicious chicken supper will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

PLEASURE RIDGE

The pastor, Rev. Father Waters, and members of St. Paul's church, Pleasure Ridge, are making extensive preparations for their coming annual picnic, which will take place at Grote's Park, formerly St. Peter's Grove, on Monday, July 11, both afternoon and evening. A delicious chicken supper will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

ed, and as I started to leave the smaller man grabbed me by the shoulder with one hand while he held a revolver in the other. I managed to get to my room, which was in darkness. The taller man followed my maid to her room and bolted the door. He ordered her to go bed. She replied she would not. Then he ordered her to go downstairs. Later when I went downstairs I passed her on the stairs. She had just had another struggle with the two men. The taller man commanded me to go back to my room with the other man and I refused. Both pointed revolvers at me. The tall man said "Tis your last chance before I fire on you." I replied "Fire if you like." I reported this matter to the District Inspector the next day and made a statement to the Head Constable, stating he could identify both men if I got an opportunity. The following day I was asked to come to the barracks for the purpose of identifying the men. A number of policemen were paraded in the barracks yard. I positively identified the taller of the two men and my maid also identified the same man, neither of us being present at the same time. Later the Head Constable called on me and assured me on his honor that I would not again be interfered with by the Crown forces. At about 2:30 the following morning my home was broken into by my armed men, who without any notice, wrecked and burned same, and my maid, myself and six-year-old child escaped with our lives by jumping from a twelve-foot wall into a neighboring yard. My house was completely destroyed together with all my furniture, stock, effects, money, etc., so that we are absolutely homeless and penniless."

Minnie Fitzgerald, of Abbeyside, Dundarvan, County Waterford, wife of Thomas Fahy, at present in an internment camp, has been conducting her husband's grocery business since his incarceration. Fahy was arrested several months ago and has been confined to Kilworth camp without any charge against him. "About 10:30 at night, I was in my bedroom," Mrs. Fahy states in her affidavit. "I heard a knock at the door which I did not answer. When the second knock came I opened the window and asked, 'Who is there?' A tall man looked up and said, 'Military, come down and open the door.' I then went downstairs with a light in my hand and opened the door. The man, who was a strange policeman, said he wanted to get some tea. My maid asked him if he would have something else as the first was on. She then got him, at his direction, two bottles of stout. Whilst she was getting the stout he said to me: 'We are Black and Tans and are supposed not to pay for any drink here. I will pay you for all I get here tonight.' A small man then came into the hall. I went upstairs to see my little son. When I came downstairs the small man said to me, 'Show me the haystack.' I said it was not my place to show him. I will pay you for all I get here tonight.' A small man then came into the hall. I went upstairs to see my little son. When I came downstairs the small man said to me, 'Show me the haystack.' I said it was not my place to show him. The men left and we were upstairs when another knock came on the door. The same men returned and said the man wanted me to come out to the yard. I took a light in my hand and went to the back kitchen where the man was standing. He said, 'Move over near me.' I told him I was near enough to hear his conversation. He spoke and acted indecently towards me. I turned quickly on my heel and as I did he followed me to the hall.

"As my maid was leaving the hall the taller man made an attempt to kill her. The men left and we were upstairs when another knock came on the door. The same men had returned and demanded to be admitted again. I gave them two bottles of stout which they demanded.

LAYMEN'S RETREATS.

Louisville Council, Knights of Columbus, will next month inaugurate a series of laymen's week-end retreats, the first of which will commence on Friday morning, July 8, ending Sunday evening, July 10, at the Abbey of Our Lady of Getsemani, in Nelson county. The second retreat will open Friday morning, July 15, the third July 22, and ending on the succeeding Sunday evening, and if necessary to have a fourth, fifth or further number of retreats, they will be extended through the summer until all who wish to take advantage of them have been accommodated. The place selected, the Abbey of Getsemani, is ideal from every standpoint, being one of the historic places of the State, particularly adapted for retreat purposes. The number that can be accommodated at each retreat is forty. This is a movement that should be appreciated, as invitations are not limited to the Knights, but are extended to non-members and non-Catholics as well. These retreats are under the patronage of Right Rev. Denis O'Donaghue, Bishop of Louisville. The committee in charge is composed of Judge Matt O'Doherty, Chairman; James P. Miller, Vice Chairman; Grand Knight J. Raymond Barrett, Charles E. Taylor, Secretary; Thomas D. Cleary, Samuel J. Boileau, George H. Maher, Daniel W. Lawler, John P. Cassidy and Rev. Father Zoeller, Spiritual Director. The expense, including railroad fare, will be only $13.50. Trains will leave Tenth and Broadway each Friday morning at 8:25 o'clock, and returning the following Monday morning will arrive here at 7:40 o'clock. Any information desired may be obtained from Secretary John P. Cassidy, 1001 South Brook street, to whom all communications should be addressed.

PRESENTATION ACADEMY.

Through two lines of white flower-laden and beribboned poles, held by twelve undergraduates, members of the senior class of the Presentation Academy marched to their places upon the stage at the school's commencement exercises Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the chapel. The contrast between the gentle-faced, black-robed nuns and the white-frocked girl graduates lent a picturesque as well as solemn atmosphere to the exercises. The Very Rev. James Cronin, Vicar General, gave a short and impressive address and conferred the diplomas and hours in the absence of Bishop O'Donaghue, who at the last moment was unable to attend. Many members of the clergy as well as friends and relatives of the girls were present.

Literary certificates were given to Misses Mary Elizabeth Cannanisar and Elizabeth Reiser. Diplomas for completing the academic course were awarded to Misses Emily Bohan, Elsie Ada Brach, Lucille Elizabeth Brasher, Mary Catherine Cudahy, LeMyra Phillips, Dunnett, Anita Evers, Katherine Elizabeth Hamilton, Antoinette Marie Hinckelman, Mary Anne McCarty, Mabel Meade, Susan Mary Seanlann, Helen Mary Schroer, Anna Catherine Vance, Mary Catherine Vaughan, Evelyn Marie Vetter. An interesting exhibition of the art department was on display. Especially attractive were the drawings of commercial posters, examples of the work of a new department. A beautiful musical programme added to the charm of the graduation exercises, the Presentation orchestra contributing much of the music.

SNUB FOR SIMS.

Rear Admiral Sims returned home Tuesday to explain to Secretary Denby remarks attributed to him in his recent London speech on Irish Americans. There was scarcely anyone on the pier. From the handful of persons who had gathered there came neither cheer nor taunts. Among those who met the Admiral was his brother. On the trip from quarantine he had maintained strict silence, declining to make any statement before reporting to the Secretary of the Navy. There was no demonstration outside the pier nor on the way to the Pennsylvania station, where only a handful of persons were gathered. At the station, however, there were a few boos and cheers and one woman was seen parading with a banner bearing the picture of a jackass—epitome of the reference to Jackasses reported to have been made by Admiral Sims in his London speech. The woman was not troubled by the police.

RECEIVED DIPLOMAS.

Following the high mass Sunday morning, at which the Rev. Patrick Walsh was the celebrant, the graduates and pupils of Sacred Heart school, Seventeenth and Broadway, received their diplomas and certificates of honor. In his address, which Father Walsh made before announcing the winners of diplomas and prizes, a splendid tribute was paid to the Sisters and parents who send their children to Sacred Heart school. The mothers were commended for their work, which was beautifully reflected in the neat and tidy personal appearance of the girls and boys. The announcement and presentation of awards was made by Father Walsh. The altars were beautifully decorated and every pew occupied.

HIBERNIAN PICNIC.

President Joseph D. Hennessy and Chairman James J. McNamee announced everything in readiness for the big Hibernian picnic at Somers Park tomorrow, and Chairman Thomas J. Dolan, of the Athletic Committee, adds to that announcement by saying that the tug-of-war contest will be the feature of the day. In addition there will be children's races, boy and girls of all ages with suitable prizes for such contestants of all kinds will be furnished and there will be no admission fee to the park. Take Jacob Park cars, via Seventh street, cars to run every seven minutes to picnic grounds.

BEAUTIFUL FEATURES.

The annual closing of St. Patrick's school, which took place Sunday evening, was marked by interesting and beautiful features and a pleasing drama. The programme included delightful musical numbers and a pleasing drama, in which the eighth grade pupils showed proficiency, the painstaking efforts of the Sisters being evident in every number. Following the address of the pastor, the Very Rev. J. P. Cronin, V. G. there was distribution of premiums and conferring of certificates. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

K. OF C.
Special Message From Pope Benedict Announces Scholarships For Americians.

Thirty Thousand Will Make Pilgrimage to Ancient Missions of California.

Since Last September $750,000 Has Been Expended for College Courses.

TWENTY-ODD TRAINS ENGAGED

Bargain scholarships for American students desiring university training in Italy have been announced by Father John B. Nicola, of the University of Milan, who brought a special message from Pope Benedict XV. to the Knights of Columbus National Education Committee. The current rate of exchange, Father Nicola states, has enabled the University of Milan to offer to found scholarships in perpetuity in law and social science for $5,000—which is said to be the lowest principal sum yet reached for endowment of scholarships in a recognized European university. Father Nicola, who is professor of international law at the university, which is incorporated as the University of the Sacred Heart of Milan, reported to the Knights of Columbus that Pope Benedict had endorsed a plan for the institution of exchange scholarships between Milan University and American universities. He added that the Pope had described K. of C. educational work in America as one of the most intelligently prosecuted reconstruction knowledge.

The greatest pilgrimage in post-war days to the Pacific Coast and the largest convention ever held by the Knights of Columbus will be the thirty-ninth international convention of the K. of C. to be held in San Francisco on August 2-3-4. More than twenty special trains will be engaged by delegations from Eastern and Mid-West States, and in addition special cars and automobile caravans will be organized from different sections of the country.

In all, it is expected that more than 30,000 persons will make their way to San Francisco at the K. of C. convention, and in conjunction with the convention a pilgrimage will be made to the ancient missions of California.

Supreme Secretary William J. McGlinney, who is directing national arrangements for the convention, states that the Knights of Columbus national historical movement will be definitely launched in San Francisco, where the first meeting of the K. of C. historical committee, now in course of selection by Supreme Master John H. Reddin, will be held. In addition the K. of C. national building programme, educational activity, hospital work and the K. of C. fight on tuberculosis will be crystallized. The movement, coastward, will start in the third week of July. Reports from California state that the Knights of Columbus there are perfecting arrangements to make the K. of C. meet the most memorable of any ever held on the Pacific Coast.

Supreme Secretary William J. McGlinney announced Friday, following a meeting of the National Finance Committee of the K. of C. at the Commodore Hotel, that $750,000 had been expended by the Knights on college courses, including tuition, books, board and lodging for 500 war veterans since September, 1920. All of the students will be returned to colleges and universities at the expense of the K. of C. this coming September, he announced. The sum does not include money provided by State jurisdictions of the K. of C. for college scholarships or the K. of C. free night school endowments for former service men and women. The institutions where scholarships are maintained include Yale, Fordham, Massachusetts Tech, Stevens, Pratt, Notre Dame and other well known schools.

MOURNED BY MANY.

After a lingering illness of several months Mrs. James D. Duane passed quietly and peacefully to her reward Monday morning, surrounded by her little family and a few relatives. During her siege of illness there was never a word of complaint or discontent, and always a smile and a word of cheer for those called. Mrs. Duane was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Wien and from her early childhood in the Dominican parish had the happy faculty of making and retaining friendships. This was attested to by the large throng that called to pay their last respects, retaining her popularity in death as well as in life. By young and old, and in fact all classes, Mrs. Duane was loved and respected and since her passing many a prayer has been offered for the repose of her soul and eternal reward on high. The funeral took place from the family residence Wednesday morning at 8:45 and from St. Louis Bertrand's church at 9 o'clock. Solemn requiem mass was offered with Very Rev. J. R. Heenan as celebrant, Rev. R. G. Lyons as deacon, and Rev. J. B. Dawkins as sub-deacon. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

NEVER AN ARREST.

There have been many serious accidents from automobile speeding lately in Louisville, yet there has not been an arrest for reckless driving or speeding in several months. Possibly they go too fast for our Keystone police to catch them.

SHOULD TAKE PLEDGE.

Whenever a public man says something which looks foolish in print, he blames the reporter. Admiral Sims has only taken the path many better men have had to tread. It was all he could do. Sims should take the pledge.

NEAR ONE MIND.

President De Valera says that independence would be just as easy to get from England as Dominion home rule. Lloyd George has said that England might as well give Ireland independence as Dominion home rule. Evidently when the parties in interest are so nearly of one mind, the natural thing for outsiders is to recognize Ireland as independent and let it go at that.

UNREASONABLE.

A late report is that England will give Ireland just one month to change her mind, and then, if Ireland doesn't fill the island with soldiers and empty it of Irishmen. A root trouble over there is that Ireland can never change her mind fast enough to suit England. It seems only the other day that England was begging for a rebellion in Ireland and sending men and spending money to make one. Now that she has got a rebellion—not the one she asked for—she is sending for more men and spending more money to get rid of it. Most unreasonable people.

FAILURE.

The secular education which has been in vogue so long and which was looked to as the panacea for all our ills, stands abashed by the condemnation of its erstwhile supporters, who have found it empty and insufficient. The leading secular educators of the land, shocked by the decadence of morals and the general laxity prevalent even among the young, have come out, like men, declaring that the introduction of religion into life's programme must be effected somehow, anyhow, if the growing up generation is not to be polluted from the start. Purely secular education, they admit, has been a downright failure.

ARNOLD REPEATED.

In his jealous rage of Commander George Washington, traitor Benedict Arnold sold out to England where he was wined and dined. Will history repeat itself in the case of an Admiral who is being wined and dined by Great Britain? Is it safe for Admiral Sims to have knowledge of our naval secrets and plans when he acknowledges first love to John Bull, our ready enemy?

LYING AND SNEER.

News dispatches from London last week stated that the policy of reprisals was to be abandoned by the British Government in Ireland. We have heard that before, and we place little confidence in this latest report. Sending of larger forces into Ireland is given as the reason for cessation of methods of warfare which for downright savagery have not been equalled in modern times. No defense of British brutality has been offered, except the harpooned lying of Sir Hamar Greenwood and the cynical sneer of Lloyd George that "his government had murder by the throat." Some wag retorted to this that Lloyd George has murder by the hand.

REVOLT AGAINST BURDEN.

The British authorities announce that if "South" Ireland does not make an effort to work the unworkable Partition fraud they will send fifty thousand extra troops into Ireland and crush the Irish Republic by measures in comparison with which what has gone on before will appear like child's play. The Republicans of course are not frightened by this choke bit of bluster. Their minds are made up to continue the fight for freedom to the bitter end, and perhaps the British authorities may find that their new "frightfulness" will prove more costly than they would wish.

English taxpayers are already in revolt against the heavy burden the Lloyd George-Tory regime has put upon their shoulders, and are bitterly hawelling the loss of trade which the Irish boycott of their products has entailed. No better evidence of the effect of the Irish boycott of British goods could be given than is found in the efforts of the Black and Tans to push British wares—they have, in many Irish towns, closed the stores of the merchants who refuse to stock up with British goods. Needless to say that this is the very thing that has made the boycott a popular measure. Irish shops are closed for a week at a time but English factories are closed for months, many of them permanently.

SIMS AND FACTS.

Admiral Jackass Sims, like many other Tory Americans, is prone to rave over the British fleet and without giving reasons say that John Bull's warships won the war and saved America. These toadies forget that the British navy had an opportunity to win the war by the capture of the Dardanelles and failed miserably against the Turks. The John Bull warships retreated when the Turkish garrison had only seven shells left, the Turks being on the eve of surrender. Tribute number one to the British navy and the boasted Secret Service that didn't find out the Turks' weakness. In the battle of Jutland the German navy was at the mercy of the huge British fleet of superior numbers, yet the John Bull crew turned tail again and ran away, yet Sims and his like of the jackass type try to tell us that America was protected by a navy that ran away all the time. The British propagandists are being exposed daily, and under cover of their lying and British boasting there is one motive, and that is England does not want to pay her money loan to America.

HOLDS UP LABOR.

Organized labor of Germany could have prevented the world war, President Samuel Gompers declared in an address before the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor in Denver this week. "I hold that the organized labor movement of Germany failed at the critical hour," said the veteran labor leader in responding to addresses to the fraternal delegates from Great Britain and Canada. That is a theory that was urged at the beginning of the war; but there is absolutely nothing to it. Organized labor in Germany could not have prevented the war any more than organized labor in Great Britain and Canada could have done it. Why discuss the impossible? Gompers evidently hopes this kind of talk may win votes for his reelection by the American Federation.

CABINET CRISIS REPORTS.

A Cabinet crisis in Great Britain, which is reported to be imminent, may mean the downfall of the coalition cabinet. The latest development is described in anti-government quarters as a result of a revolt of the Government's followers. It was declared this alleged revolt is likely to endanger the stability and even the existence of the Lloyd George Cabinet, and cause a general election. A manifesto signed by about 150 coalition members of the House of Commons was presented to the Government, protesting against the expenditure of public money without the previous sanction of Parliament. That, however, is not the worst indictment against the Lloyd George Cabinet.

WITHOUT RESULTS.

Recognition of the Oregon Government in Mexico seems to be a matter of the distant future in Washington. Negotiations have been carried on but no practical results have been achieved and the situation remains virtually where it stood weeks ago. The Oregon Government wants recognition, but the confederacy clauses of the constitution of Mexico stand in the way. Oregon can't change these without action by the Mexican Congress, and the "Reds" seem to control enough votes there to block any attempt at amendment.

En route home from St. Mary's College, Pope McAdams stopped over at New Haven to visit M. J. Dana and Charles S. Mahoney.

Mrs. M. Doyle, of Jeffersonville, is at North Vernon, where she will spend several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Isaac Palmer Caldwell.

Mrs. Charles Bauer announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ida Mario Bauer, to Irvin C. Rueff. The wedding will take place in August.

Fred Sweeney is home from school at St. Mary's and will spend the vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sweeney, South Louisville.

Misses Lisette Siever, Esther Breines and Helen Siever, of North Vernon, formed a house party last week at the home of Mrs. Frank Pooley, Parkview.

Mr. and Mrs. George Oesewin gave a delightful dance in honor of their daughter, Miss Ethel Louise Oesewin, who graduated June 15 from Sacred Heart Academy. The guests numbered eighty.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Long and little son Jack, of Petersburg, Va., will arrive the first of July to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Zix, 2136 Franklin street.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Spalding, Lebanon, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louise Spalding, to James M. Ballard, of Louisville. The wedding will take place in the autumn.

Louisville people visiting New York and seashore resorts the past week included Mr. and Mrs. George N. Clark, Mrs. A. B. Miller, T. H. Keeley, L. G. Illoey, J. H. Graman, E. E. Buchart and W. A. Anderson.

Mrs. Patrick Bannon was a charming hostess last week to her embroidery club. Those present were Mesdames Hattie Maratt, Herget, Rose Bryant, H. P. Winkler, Bassett, Koellner, Seitz and M. J. Connely.

Miss Margaret Brown entertained the Euclid 500 Club Saturday afternoon with a 500 party and luncheon at the Hotel Henry Watterson. Those present were Misses Catherine Campbell, Mary Elizabeth Campbell, Antoinette Simon, Kathryn Hasselwander, Mary Catherine Kelly, Evelyn Quire, Geneva Clephas, Mary Louise Bryant, Jean Speth, Marguerite Slater, Julia May King, Emily Brocar.

In the presence of numerous friends and relatives the marriage of Miss Mary Louise Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Moran, and Robert Miller Montague, Lieutenant in the Fourth Artillery, now stationed at Camp Dix, N. J., took place Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at St. Louis Borromean church. Mrs. Foster Joseph Tate was the matron of honor, and Lieut. Tate acted as best man.

Without results.

Recognition of the Oregon Government in Mexico seems to be a matter of the distant future in Washington. Negotiations have been carried on but no practical results have been achieved and the situation remains virtually where it stood weeks ago. The Oregon Government wants recognition, but the confederacy clauses of the constitution of Mexico stand in the way.

Oregon can't change these without action by the Mexican Congress, and the "Reds" seem to control enough votes there to block any attempt at amendment.

Cardinal's prediction.

In an address at Cookstown, Cardinal Logue used the following words: "If we are to judge by the public utterances of those into whose hands power has fallen in the North of Ireland, we Catholics have times of persecution before us."

Louisville Collegiate School

512 WEST ORMSBY AVENUE

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 26

The school offers two courses of study, the one a college preparatory course, which prepares pupils for Vassar, Smith, Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke and Bryn Mawr colleges; the other a general course, which differentiates but little from the college preparatory course and which leads to the diploma of the school

It is strongly advised that pupils anticipating either course should enter the school at least by the beginning of the eighth class, in which important High School subjects are begun.

The work of the school is carried on by a faculty of college trained women—Music, Art, Gymnastics.

As only a limited number of pupils can be provided for, early enrollment is highly desirable.

LORETO ALUMNAE

An unexpected visit from the Rev. Mother Prendergast to Loreto Academy, Marion county, was the means of bringing a large number of the Kentucky alumnae to that institution last week. An election of officers for the association resulted in the naming of Mrs. Bernard Aspinwall as President, replacing Mrs. John A. Wathen, who retires. Others elected were Mrs. Fred Kenne, Sr. Vice President; Mrs. B. J. Ohlgischlager, Treasurer; Mrs. Anna N. Cunningham, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. La Motte Spalding, Lebanon, Recording Secretary.

The alumnae's colors, white and gold, with golden butterflies and California poppies, formed an attractive decoration. At the close of the reunion Dr. J. J. Walsh, of Fordham University, lectured to the normal students and young teachers in the auditorium.

RECEIVED DIPLOMAS.

St. Boniface Hall was filled Sunday night when the closing exercises of the school were held and thirty-five boys and girls received their diplomas and certificates of graduation. Gold medals were awarded to Urban Schnurr, Ruth Olges, Josephine Schwerl, Mary Ann Conner, Chas. Reinhart, Helen Lubbers, Mrs. Anna Hagedorn, Lorine Rehner, Philip Magda, Catherine Meyer. Besides thirty-two prizes for excellence special prizes were awarded to about seventy-five pupils who were perfect in attendance—that is who never missed class and were never tardy.

Mrs. Rose Mulroy, sixty-six years old, widow of Philip Mulroy, passed to her eternal reward Sunday morning at her residence, 722 South Third street. Her funeral took place Tuesday morning from the Cathedral, of which congregation she was the oldest member.

John Henry Miller, Jr., twenty-one years old, beloved son of John H. and Bertha Miller, 999 Vine street, passed from this life Tuesday morning, leaving a wide circle of relatives and acquaintances who mourn his untimely death. Funeral services were held Thursday morning at Holy Trinity church.

Friends and relatives sympathized with Mr. and Mrs. William V. Conlee, from whom the Angel of Death has taken their year-old daughter Annette. Funeral took place Thursday morning from the residence of her grandfather, Dr. J. Stevenson, 2320 West Jefferson street, with requiem mass at St. Anthony's church.

Tuesday morning the funeral of Frank Dockweiler took place from St. Martin's church, of which he was an old and respected member. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katie Dockweiler, 633 East Brockridge; two sons, Frank E. and John S. Dockweiler, and four daughters, Misses Flora and Elsie Dockweiler, Mrs. John Bishop, all of Louisville; and Mrs. Ray Due, Covington.

Mrs. Rose Mulroy, sixty-six years old, widow of Philip Mulroy, passed to her eternal reward Sunday morning at her residence, 1825 Bank street, following a short illness. She is survived by a son, James Mulroy, and three daughters, Misses Rose and Margaret Mulroy and Mrs. T. L. Brennan, all of Louisville. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at St. Patrick's church, where she had long been a respected and devout member.

Mrs. Mary O'Daly, a pioneer member of St. Louis Bertrand church, widow of Capt. John O'Daly, died Thursday morning at her home, 1030 South Sixth street. She was born in St. Louis seventy-eight years ago, but came to Louisville in childhood. She was a member of the Third Order and was always an active worker in church affairs. Surviving her are four sons, Eugene, Joseph, Thomas and John O'Daly, and two daughters, Miss Alice and Margaret O'Daly, and Sister Scholastica, of the Dominican order, stationed at St. Catherine's Academy at Springfield. The funeral and requiem mass took place Thursday morning, attended by numbers of the older residents of the parish.

ARRIVED IN IRELAND.

Dom O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, has arrived safely in Ireland, Michael Francis Doyle, his counsel, arrived Saturday in Washington.

Neither the date nor manner of the departure of the Lord Mayor was announced. Under a ruling of the department, O'Callaghan, who came to this country to testify before the commission investigating conditions in Ireland, had until June 6 to remain as a seaman. Satisfactory proof that O'Callaghan has left this country has been furnished the department of Labor by Doyle. It was announced at the department, "The department is satisfied that O'Callaghan is compiling in every way with the ruling of the department that he leave the United States within a specified time." Secretary Henning said.

SCHOOL CLOSED.

St. Frances of Rome parochial school held its closing exercises Sunday evening with an interesting programme in the church. Two graduates, Misses Lucille Blake and Juliet Gnecht, were awarded diplomas. The Rev. Father John H. Riley, the pastor, delivered an able address on "Christian Education" and closed the exercises with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

FRANKPORT.

Misses Mary Brisbin, Elizabeth Meagher and Jane Marshall, of Frankfort, who have been at Carmel, have returned home for the summer. Misses Brisbin and Meagher were graduated with honors and were on the musical programme.

INTERESTING EXERCISES.

Diplomas were presented to thirty members of the graduating class of St. Anthony's parochial school at interesting exercises held Sunday afternoon in St. Anthony's church in connection with the benediction service. Father Seraphin Schlagnhaufer delivered the commencement address.

SINGS FIRST HIGH MASS.

St. Louis' Bertrand church was thronged last Sunday when Rev. Father William Burke sang his first solemn high mass. The Very Rev. Father Heenan, O. P., the prior, preached a powerful sermon. Assisting Father Burke were the Rev. J. R. Clark, Rev. J. L. Flannery and Rev. J. B. Dawkins. The acolytes were Hubert Higgins and Bernard Kilkenney; first Thurifer, James Kilkenney; second Thurifer, Robert Caldwell; cross-bearer, Riley Bareford. The early education of Father Burke was gleaned at Sacred Heart school, and later he attended public schools here and then went to St. Mary's College in Marion county. His first preparation for the priesthood was when he attended the Dominican Aquinas College, Columbus, O., and his next step toward that goal was at the novitiate, at Somerset, O. Six years ago he entered the House of Studies, Washington, D. C. In all, he spent eleven years of study for the priesthood. He will return shortly to Washington to continue his studies. Father Burke has four brothers—Vincent C. Burke, cashier with the Carter Dry Goods Company, and Thomas F. Burke, engaged in the realty business here, and one sister, Miss Mary Burke.

CHARITY WORKERS.

Next Thursday a garden party and dance will take place at Seminary Park which promises to be a most delightful affair. The proceeds will be for charity, and the numbers who have accepted invitations and tickets should ensure success. The following girls have charge of the tickets: Misses Cecilia Sullivan, Elizabeth Campbell, Irma Kneekamp, Evelyn Schelling, Lena Mae Jaxon, Aline O'Connor, Lucile O'Connor, Adalaine Ritter, Mary Arnold, Lucille Dant, Ruth O'Brien, Mary Baldwin, Madeline Baldwin, Jane Speak, Mary Ross, Margaret Nord, Mrs. George Rankin is Chairman of the committee, which has arranged for special car service.

ELABORATE PROGRAMME.

A very elaborate programme has been promised the members of the St. Helena's Co-operative Club at their social meeting on Monday evening, June 27, at the Presentation Academy, Fourth and Breckinridge. There will be a most enjoyable talk by their stalwart friend and supporter, Rev. Father Daniel Linton, O. F. M., and a splendid rendering of Liszt's Concerto No. 2 for the piano, played by Miss Marie Dumont and Prof. Patrick O'Sullivan. Other pleasing numbers will be a recitation by Miss Martha Fischer and a Japanese fan drill by twelve girls from St. Mary's school. All who come will enjoy the evening and no one will be disappointed.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

The marriage of Miss Nell Mahoney and J. P. Flynn took place last week at the St. Alloysius church, Peebles Valley. Father Flynn officiating. Mrs. C. Edward Mahoney, mother of the bride, was matron of honor, and George Francis Dowling, Louis, was the best man. After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Flynn left for a short wedding trip. They will be at home after July 1 in Washington, Ind.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

Rain interfered with the games in the Twin City League last Sunday and those games are automatically dropped from the season's schedule. The schedule tomorrow calls for some good contests and Manager Walter Murphy and his veterans of the Knights of Columbus team claim they will knock Trinity Council for their first defeat of the season. Other games are Knights of St. John vs. St. X. and Mackin vs. Henderson.

NEW ALBANY.

Twenty-four students of Holy Trinity parochial school, New Albany, received certificates of graduation at an annual commencement exercises of the school held in the parish auditorium Friday night. The Rev. Charles Curran, pastor of Holy Trinity church, presented the certificates. A musical and literary programme was presented.

PRIESTS' LEAGUE.

Right Rev. Joseph Schrems has issued an announcement that the next meeting of the Priests' Eucharistic League will be held in San Francisco on August 10 and 11 next. The convention goes to San Francisco at the invitation of Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna. Last year's convention was held in Philadelphia, and was attended by about 550 priests from all sections of the United States.

PLAY COLUMBUS NEXT.

The Louisville ball team will play at Toledo again this afternoon, tomorrow and Monday, and from there the club will go to Columbus for a series of four games. Neither Toledo or Columbus seem to furnish real competition and our boys should stay around that top rung of the ladder for another little hit at least.

Following the Columbus series the club comes home for a three days' stay and then goes on a tour of the Western cities. It is to be hoped that Ellis will be back in the game in the next few days and the club will be fit for foreign fields.
